2. Bob Gish introduced Alison Halpern from the WA State Noxious Weed Control Board. She discussed weed free forage and what is being done to get a certification program in place. The current status is complicated, but is moving forward, and they think it will be in place this year. This certified product will only be for U.S. use. Washington Wilderness Hay and Mulch (WWHAM) is the name of the new program. Certified Hay will have a proprietary twine that is purple with yellow and blue flecks in it. Volunteers could become inspectors and help to spot noxious weed sites. To contact Alison Halpern call 360-902-2053 or email ((Creek, one on 4/19 with the Nisqually Chapter and one 5/17 with the Oakland Bay Chapter. Other BCHW members are welcome at these rides. She said she would be happy to host a ride for the Capitol Riders Chapter in the fall if we would set a date.

He feels we should drop Trail 6A from the adoption plan, since it originates from Margaret McKinney and is not convenient for us to maintain. A motion was made to accept his plan, seconded, and passed.

OLD BUSINESS

Jubilee

Jeff gave a report on the BCHW Jubilee Meeting in Ellensburg. He said that it was a lot of fun and the auctions were very successful. Many thanks to the chapter's members who helped to make it a success.

Capitol Riders' office of Treasurer

Due to the resignation of the Treasurer, the Chairman asked a volunteer to fill the position. Nancy Garred volunteered her services on a temporary basis, depending on the BCHW Bylaws resolution. A motion was made, seconded, and passed to accept Nancy's offer to be the temporary Treasurer of Capitol Riders.

Good of the Order

Shooting that was held at the Trails on April 5/6. He said it was a BLAST and noted that you can always shoot a gun from the back of your horse at least once!!!

Sue Haefliger made some positive comments about the Capitol Riders' chapter.

Ken Parrish has resigned as web-master for the Capitol Riders' website. If anyone can step up to this very important role, please contact Jeff LaBreck, Karen Johnson or Ritz Duchesne. The website will not be updated until a replacement can be found.

Why waste $$ on horses?

My daughter turned sixteen years old today; which is a milestone for most people. Besides looking at baby photos and childhood trinkets with her, I took time to reflect on the young woman my daughter had become and the choices she would face in the future. As I looked at her I could see the athlete she was, and determined woman she would soon be.

I started thinking about some the girls we knew in our town who were already pregnant, pierced in several places, hair every color under the sun, drop outs, drug addicts and on the fast track to no where, seeking surface identities because they had no inner self esteem.

The parents of these same girls have asked me why I 'waste' the money on horses so my daughter can ride. I'm told she will grow out of it, lose interest, discover boys and all kinds of things that try to pin the current generation's 's lacker' label on my child. I don't think it will happen, I think she will by and have horses all her life. Because my daughter grew up with horses she has compassion. She knows that we must take special care of the very young and the very old. We must make sure those without voices to speak of their pain are still cared for.

Because my daughter grew up with horses she learned responsibility for others land herself. She learned that regardless of the weather you must still care for those you have the stewardship of. There are no 'days off' just because you don't feel like being a horse owner that day. She learned that for every hour of fun you have there are days of hard slogging work you must do first.

Because my daughter grew up with horses she learned not to be afraid of getting dirty and that appearances don't matter to most of the breathing things in the world we live in. Horses do not care about designer clothes, jewelry, pretty hairdos or anything else we put on our bodies to try to impress others.

What a horse cares about are your abilities to work within his natural world. He doesn't care if you're wearing $80.00 jeans while you do it. Because my daughter grew up with horses she learned about sex and how it can both enrich and complicate lives. She learned that it only takes one time to produce a baby, and the only way to ensure babies aren't produced is not to breed. She learned how babies are planned, made, born and, sadly, sometimes die before reaching their potential. She learned how sleepless nights and trying to outsmart a crafty old broodmare could result in getting to see, as non-horse owning people rarely do, the birth of a true miracle.

Because my daughter grew up with horses she understands the value of money. Every dollar can be translated into bales of hay, bags of feed or farrier visits. Purchasing non-necessities during lean times can mean the difference between feed and good care, or neglect and starvation. She has learned to judge the level of her care against the care she sees provided by others and to make sure her standards never lower, and only increase as her knowledge grows.

Because my daughter grew up with horses she has learned to learn on her own. She has had teachers that cannot speak, nor write, nor communicate beyond body language and reactions. She has had to learn to 'read' her surroundings for both safe and unsafe objects, to look for hazards where others might only see a pretty meadow. She has learned to judge people as she judges horses. She looks beyond appearances and trappings to see what is within.

Author Unknown

Because my daughter grew up with horses she has learned sportsmanship to a high degree. Everyone that competes fairly is a winner. Trophies and ribbons may prove someone a winner, but they do not prove someone is a horseman. She has also learned that some people will do anything to win, regardless of who it hurts. She knows that those who will cheat in the show ring will also cheat in every other aspect of their life and are not to be trusted.

Because my daughter grew up with horses she has self-esteem and an engaging personality. She can talk to anyone she meets with confidence, because she has to express herself to her horse with more than words. She knows the satisfaction of strolling and teaching a -1,000 pound animal that will yield willingly to her gentle touch and ignore the more forceful and inept handling of those stronger than she is. She holds herself with poise and professionalism in the company of those far older than herself.

Because my daughter grew up with horses she has learned to plan ahead. She knows that choices made today can affect what happens five years down the road. She knows that you cannot care for and protect your investments without savings to fall back on. She knows the value of land and buildings. And that caring for you vehicle can mean the difference between easy travel or being stranded on the side of the road with a four horse trailer on a hot day.

When I look at what she has learned and what it will help her become, I can honestly say that I haven't 'wasted' a penny on providing her with horses. I only wish that all children had the same opportunities to learn these lessons from horses before setting out on the road to adulthood. Author unknown

BCHA Resolution which would tend to hurt BCHA. A motion carried that the State of Washington takes a position against this resolution.

18. Bob talked about the Missouri Resolution about the Animal ID Act opposition. A motion passed to oppose the Missouri Resolution. Bob will also use prior WA opposition to the Equine fees. Motion passed to vote in favor of the BCHA Constitutional changes.

19. Motion passed to recognize the Jubilee Head Table purchasers as Benefactors in the THN.

20. Darrell Wallace suggested that each Chapter could submit a couple of names for contact by emergency services for future emergencies.

21. Teunis Wyers said that an example set of the Bylaws will be sent to the Chapters for use as a sample for their Bylaw drafting.

22. Bob Gish adjourned the meeting at 9:45 pm. A meeting with its fair share of controversy.
