

Capitol Forest – Winter Riding (December 1st to April 30th)

Lines on the maps:

- Black lines are roads
- Red lines are trails closed to winter riding
- Yellow, green, purple lines are trails open for winter riding

Access to northerly McKenny Trail section:

- Coming from the Equine Loop Trail, ride the E9500 road southwest to the E9000 Road and follow it northwest to the end.
- Coming from the Mima Falls Trail, follow the E9000 Road to the end.

At the intersection of the end of the E9000 Road next to the Mima Falls Tie Trail and the Campground Trail, you continue on and ride over the big culvert to the intersection of McKenny Trail where the Campground Trail ends. At that point, you continue straight as if you're riding towards Capitol Peak (do not turn right on the McKenny Trail which will continue to be closed). The section of McKenny Trail up to the D4630 road will be open to equines during the winter months. From there on we must only ride on logging roads, so don't cross the road and pick up the McKenny Trail on the other side of the road. In order to make a loop back to Margaret McKenny Campground or the Equine Loop Trail, turn right on the D4630 road and follow it down to the short bridge on the McKenny Trail.

Access to the E9000 Road:

- Turn off the Campground Trail on to the E9400 Road and turn right (north) on the E9000 Road.
- Turn west on to the Mima Falls Trail for 0.2 mile where it crosses the E9000 Road. Turn right (north) and continue on the E9000 Road.

Boots recommended for riding on the roads!

Using your web browser, go to <https://mappingsupport.com/p/gmap4.php?ll=46.912722,-123.068461&z=14&t=t4&q=http://capitolriders.org/KMZ/CapitolForest.kml>

This is an online map where if you click on trails and roads, it will tell you which they are. You can also change basemaps, zoom in and out and much more.